

Software Quality Assurance Engineer (QA-10)
Closing date: Friday 6th August 2010

Latens Systems, one of Europe's fastest growing technology companies, was founded in 2002 to develop a new generation of software based security solutions to protect the delivery of Pay Television in IPTV, Cable Satellite and Terrestrial networks.

High product quality is vital to our customers and the company is constantly striving to raise the quality standards across the portfolio of products. Following the successful launch of its multiple product lines into global markets and continued expansion, the company is seeking to strengthen the QA group by hiring a QA Engineer based in our Belfast Headquarters.

This is an opportunity for an exceptional individual who wants to move into a key role in a new and exciting technology area with an entrepreneurial, leading edge company.

Software Quality Assurance Engineer Role:

In this role you will: -

- Become a product expert in at least one or more product lines
- Develop test cases from functional specifications
- Maintain test documentation and test environments
- Assist other teams in analyzing and root causing system defects.

Attributes Required (must have)

- Previous experience in a commercial software testing environment
- A degree in Software Engineering, Electrical/Electronic Engineering, Computer Science or Business/IT or similar with a classification of 2:1 or above, or equivalent experience and skills
- Technically competent all rounder able to quickly understand new technologies and solutions.
- IP Networking Skills
- Experience working in a Linux/Unix environment
- Experience in the production of test scripts (both manual and automated) to verify/validate software products
- Strong understanding of test methodologies
- Excellent analytical and problem solving skills
- Ability to work under pressure and meet deadlines.
- Good written and oral communication skills
- Strong attention to detail
- Enjoy a hands-on approach and be prepared to get the job done
- Flexible to travel

Preferred (not essential)

- Knowledge of Encryption/Conditional Access, MPEG/DVB, Set top box software and integration, broadcast applications, Data Security.
- ISEB foundation certificate in software testing
- Experience of working in an ISO 9001 environment.
- Experience in scripting and interpreted languages
- Experience with Agile methodologies

Training will be provided in all aspects of the role and associated technologies.

Latens offers a remuneration package which includes a competitive salary and additional flexible benefits.

Application Procedure

Please email your CV to jobs@latens.com stating clearly the vacancy title and code in the subject heading.

Please state where you heard about the vacancy i.e. website, word of mouth, Latens Employee (please state employee's name).

Additional Information

Further information about Latens Systems, can be obtained from the company WWW site at <http://www.latens.com>.

